Osney river clean up

Kieran Lobley, West Street

On Saturday 22 June, we organised an Osney Island river clean-up. We had three groups. The one which featured me (Kieran, aged 9), Griff and Hannah went along the main bit of the river at East Street. We found nothing there so we headed up a bit to the Botley Bridge and found three glass bottles and a plastic cup. Back in West Street we discovered that the other groups had found a bike, an electrical box, three traffic cones, a shopping trolley, jackets, jumpers, etc.

Me and my two friends, Griff and Arkady, then went on the paddle board down one of the back streams. We honestly found 70-plus things, such as: a camping stove, seven jackets, another traffic cone, a foam football, sweet wrappers, tin cans, etc. We put all the rubbish by the railings on West Street. The next day somebody had thrown the traffic cone back in the river, so me, my dad and my friend went out in the canoe to get it and its still in our back garden.

Nomi (Kieran's mum) adds a big thank you to everyone who participated: Hannah and Griff; Richard, his daughter Grace, and her friend, Ella Raven; Noel, Kieran and Arkady. And thank you to Susanna for arranging for the rubbish collection.

Working down under

Jennifer Marsh, Bridge Street

I've recently returned to Osney after living abroad for over 5 years. I moved to Melbourne, Australia, in April 2019 to work on large-scale rail projects across Victoria in my role as a track engineer with Arup. I'm proud to have contributed significantly to these projects, alleviating congestion and improving travel for public-transport users, pedestrians, cyclists and drivers. Seeing our hard work come to life and positively impacting local communities was incredibly rewarding.

I'm privileged to have been able to call Melbourne my home for so many years, and I was fortunate enough to travel extensively around Australia during my time there, exploring its diverse landscapes and vibrant cities. I took the long route home, spending a 2-month sabbatical campervanning around New Zealand and visiting the South Pacific islands before returning to Oxford. I'm excited to begin a new chapter back home in the UK, based in Oxford but working for the Arup Birmingham office.

New OIRA committee members

Maria and Philippa joined the committee at the Annual Meeting in April.

Maria Holt, West Street

It is a pleasure and an honour to have been elected on to the OIRA committee. I am a newcomer to the island, having arrived here at the end of February, but am already loving the tranquil and friendly environment, very different from my previous life in London.

I am an academic, researcher and activist, specialising in Middle East politics with a particular focus on gender, war and violence. I've travelled extensively in the region, especially in Lebanon, where I conducted several ethnographic projects with Palestinian refugee communities.

A particular interest has been to encourage a deeper knowledge and understanding in the UK about the countries and peoples of the Arab world. To that end, I have organised various events, including parliamentary delegations to Arab states and talks to school and college students. For many years, I taught in a university. Now that I have more time and space, I have already started to develop new projects. I very much look forward to getting to know the wonderful island community.

Philippa Lanchbery, Mallinson Court

I've lived at Mallinson Court for 15 years and joined the OIRA committee at the AGM. The island is a wonderful place to live and I hope to make a contribution towards this community.

My interests are modern languages, music and reading. I also do qigong and am a member of a walking group, and of Botley WI.

I am retired after working in the Bodleian for 38 years and at Christ Church College for 5 years before that. At the Bodleian I worked in the Cataloguing Room and took the Celtic language material under my wing as I've been learning Welsh on and off for years. I was also at RSL (Radcliffe Science Library), and then my job was moved to Osney Mead.

Estuary hopes, upstream dreams

Marion Hanbury Brown, Bridge St

Earlier this year I was returning, suitably clad, from a wet but enjoyable popup cycle ride with the local women's cycling group, Isis. I passed a somewhat dawdling cyclist in Bridge Street who surprised me by asking if he could take my photo as a representative 'type' on the island.

▲ How appropriate – Andy handed me the May newsletter during the photo shoot.

The photographer, Jonathan Goldberg, is working on a project called 'Estuary hopes, upstream dreams: a journey along the River Thames islands'. You can see more of the images on his website, which explains: 'My project explores the islands in the River Thames of which there are about 180' (www.jonathangoldberg.co.uk, under Projects). He will let me know when it is finished.

The bells of Osney

Mark van Oss, East Street

Great Tom 'the loudest bell in Oxford' is still sounded 101 times every night at 9 p.m. Oxford time (9.05 p.m.) from Christ Church College. This 'ding' is rung using a computerised mechanism that does not swing the bell. When it is rung manually it creates a different heavier 'dong', now heard only on very special occasions for fear of a crack like that in Big Ben, which has led to a distinct sound but distorted from what was intended. The most recent 'dong' of 6-ton Tom was for Charles III's coronation.

But did you know that Tom originally came from Osney? It was not the only bell removed to Christ Church from Osney Abbey following Henry VIII's dissolution of the monasteries. Cardinal Wolsey took six other bells that had been cast in the grounds of our abbey. Osney's bells regularly peal from Christ Church tower in sequences, not tunes, of up to 5,000 'dings' and 'dongs' that can be heard across several counties.

OFAS planning approval

Simon Collings, South Street

The Oxford Flood Alleviation Scheme (OFAS) took a big step towards becoming reality when Oxfordshire County Council Planning Committee approved the planning application on 15 July. The committee voted eight in favour with one abstention.

The next step is to refer the scheme to the Secretary of State for Housing, Communities and Local Government. She has the option of calling in the application as it is on green belt land. This is a normal part of the planning process for schemes of this size and complexity.

We also await approval of the compulsory purchase order, following the public inquiry last year. A decision is expected on this over the summer.

This is good news for Osney residents. Once approval is finalised and construction begins, reduction of flooding is expected within the first year. The whole scheme is expected to take 5 years to build.

Climate minister visits the island

On 18 July Osney hosted a visit of the new Minister for Climate, Kerry McCarthy. The minister was visiting Low Carbon Hub and Osney Lock Hydro to see the way our community has been involved in local energy projects such as the hydro and Osney Supercharge. She also had a tour of the island, meeting residents who are active in these projects and dropping in at the Vishuddha Yoga Centre to see a purpose-built building that has energy efficiency at its heart.

Visit an energy-saving home

Suzanne Jeffrey, South Street

This September you can visit an energy-saving home as part of Oxford Open Doors (14–15 September). Find out how to make your home warmer in winter, cooler in summer, a healthier place to live and hopefully cheaper to run.

Our house on South Street will be one of those opening. We'll share our experience of retro fitting an Osney house with an air source heat pump, internal insulation, solar panels, double-glazed sash windows and using reclaimed materials.

We don't yet have the opening times but will publish these on the website later in August, and I will share via the email list.

Oxford Open Doors is organised by Oxford Preservation Trust. Last year 125 venues in the city were open to visitors: oxfordpreservation.org.uk/oxford-open-doors

Osney Island Boat Club

Fiona Ravenscroft, South Street

There's still time to join the boat club and enjoy the river this summer. We have a canoe and four kayaks available on the island for members to take out at any time. Membership is per household and is £50 per year (from 1 April) plus a joining fee of £30. Membership provides access to five boats, paddles, buoyancy aids and river licences. If you are interested please contact me: osneyislandbc@gmail.com.

Chatty Wednesdays this autumn

Eli Harriss, Bridge Street

Osney Chatty Wednesdays has been going for 5 years now. It's a chance for Osney neighbours to meet each other once a month over a drink and have a friendly chat. It's a simple idea that everyone likes, and you are all welcome. I'll be at The Holly Bush in the garden or inside the pub (it all depends on weather and noise levels) wearing a high-vis cycling jacket.

We meet on the third Wednesday of the month: 7–9 p.m. on 18 September, then 6–8 p.m. for the rest of the year: 16 October, 20 November, 18 December.

Open Gardens and Tea on the Towpath

We were very lucky with the weather. The rain stopped and the sun came out just in time for a hugely enjoyable event. There was a happy mix of new gardens, old favourites and recent additions. And – as usual – Osney bakers excelled.

Many people contributed so much to the event, but I'd like to say a special thank you to Jude, Julia and Karen for calmly managing the huge numbers of people coming for tea and cake, Michael for getting the tea urn to work, David and Gregor for wrangling the bunting and David (again) for taking many excellent photos (see the OIRA website). Also all those helping to set up the gazebos, serve up the teas, wash up and tidy up afterwards, Peter and the ukulele band who played and sang for our enjoyment, Jula who managed the cash and especially the gardeners who worked so hard on their gardens and then generously shared them.

Some numbers: eight gardens and Osney Lock Hydro were open, all different and full of character. We raised nearly £800 for OIRA for production of the newsletter and other island amenities.

St Frideswide's Church

Rev. Rachel Cross

Summer is often associated with a break from normal day-to-day work. A break, a sabbath even? Having a sabbath is one of the ten commandments in the Christian Bible. These commandments were given to people escaping slavery so the idea of a day without work must have been revolutionary. Ancient wisdom: a day off to recover and rest from the week's work, a time to connect with people for whom everyday life doesn't allow time. An intentional time in the week to press pause.

Whatever your summer looks like, may there be times to rest and regroup.

In that spirit, Children's Church continues on the first and third Sundays of the month during our 10.30 a.m. service but over the summer our mid-week children's work at St Frideswide's also takes a break.

OIRA newsletter supplement – August 2024

Traffic filters

The County Council was planning to install six traffic filters across the city, in order to reduce congestion. This has been postponed indefinitely, until we know when Network Rail is going to reopen the railway bridge to traffic.

Tumbling Bay bathing place

We will have to wait until next summer for this much-loved local attraction to reopen. The high volumes of water this year have badly eroded the bank behind the concrete wall that is falling away. As a result, the City Council has decided to go for sheet metal piling, instead of the gabion baskets that they had hoped to install. Fortunately, sheet metal piling is the favoured option of the Tumbling Bay Preservation Society and a tried and tested option. The metal will be concealed by planting at the edge of the bank. We have asked for an extra ladder as well.

Botley Park tennis courts

There is a session of free group coaching every Saturday at 10am for children and adults, which looks fun. At other times it costs £4 an hour if at least one player is under 16 or over 65, and otherwise £7 an hour. Book online at “tennis oxford”.

Home-charging for electric vehicles

At last, we have a date when the City Council and County Council hope to start installing EV chargers for properties with no off-street parking. They plan to go out to tender in September and could start work in December. To find out more and register an interest search online for “Electric vehicles Oxfordshire County Council”.

Ward surgeries

I still hold a surgery on the first and third Saturday of each month from 11 am to 12 noon. On the first Saturday it's at Jericho Community Centre and on the third at West Oxford Community Centre. However, you are welcome to email me or phone me at any time if you notice problems with such things as streetlights, refuse collections, fly-tipping and potholes – or you can report them online at “FixMyStreet Oxfordshire”. Also I can often help with questions about schools, social services, traffic or libraries.
